AN AUDIENCE OF ONE was enough to raise the interest Saturday of Republican gubernatorial hopeful Lou Frey even if the one was a non-voting duck. Frey and friend David Goodlett were listening to speakers extoll Goodlett's father, Chief Charlie, during the annual Republican barbecue.

Impact fees postponed

BELLE GLADE - Responding to a request by two local contractors, the City Commission Monday night decided to postpone the implementation of water and sewer development fees until July 7.

To do so, the commission has to amend the ordinance it has already passed. It held the first reading of the amendment to postpone Monday and is expected to have the second and third readings at its next regular meeting.

Michael Zumpf and Roe Steele, local contractors, said they were unaware of the ordinance even though news articles had been written about it and advertisements purchased in local newspapers.

"I have no quarrel with the fees or the amount," said Zumpf, "they were just unexpected." He went on to explain he has been awarded bids on two buildings and with the added costs of the impact fees, could get "hooked" for the cost.

"I don't believe the commission has done this to burn contractors," said Zumpf. "They meant for the consumer to pay the fees."

But Zumpf said this is not what is happening. Because of having to secure a permit to process, it sometimes takes as long as 12 weeks, contracts have already been signed without taking into consideration the impact fees, he said.

Zumpf asked the commission to consider this aspect.

Mayor Tom Aitman concurred. "It is equitable and fair to postpone the fees for 90 days," he said.

City Manager Robert R. Sanders noted a 90 day postponement would mean the loss of almost $12,000 to the city special sewer and water improvement fund.

Commissioner Kenneth Harris said he was in favor of postponing, but said 90 days may be too long a period of time.

Commissioner Ralph Kirk noted the city could allow contractors to proceed with their signed contracts and charge the fees for any new ones, but Zumpf said he has two homes under construction personally. "I don't see contracts with myself," he said.

After more discussion, the commission decided to postpone the fees for 60 days and begin charging them on July 7.

In a related matter, the commission ordered City Attorney John Baker to draw up an amendment to the ordinance dealing with tap fees, both sewer and water.

The problem is that some contractors, Roe Steele among them,

CHARLES GOODLETT was honored Saturday during the annual Republican barbecue at the Belle Glade Municipal Marina. Circuit Judge Marvin U. Mounts (left) presented a gold Accutron watch to Goodlett in memoriam of his 30 years as police chief and director of public safety as City Commissioner Claude Tindall watched.

Marketing unity needed--Stone

BELLE GLADE-US Senator Richard Stone listened to problems facing area vegetable growers Saturday in a visit to the Belle Glade-Pahokee area and noted the one thing lacking here is coordination of marketing.

"I'm impressed with the organization of the marketing in Japan and Mexico," Stone told area growers he met with at Pioneer and Duda packing houses. "They can't touch you in production but they're killing you in the market place."

"It isn't in the nature of farming to get killed but that's what's happening."

Stone met with a number of growers in tour of the area which included Pioneer Growers Cooperative, Duda & Sons, Venergrift-Williams Farms and the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative

Garbage experiment is on for 600 homes

BELLE GLADE - The Belle Glade City Commission has decided to initiate a pilot program of garbage pickup that if adopted, could save the city up to $40,000 annually, according to City Manager Robert R. Sanders.

The "Mobile Toter" system utilizes wheeled containers for garbage collection and 600 of them, along with two specially equipped trucks, will be used in the program.

The cost to the city for the 60-day program will be $900.

Letters are being mailed to city residents who have been selected to participate in the program which asks for their help, cooperation and comments.

The pilot will begin in approximately 30 days and at its end, questionnaires will be mailed to the residents asking for comments on how satisfactory the program was.

Based on this information, the commission can then judge whether or not to initiate the Mobile Toter system city-wide.

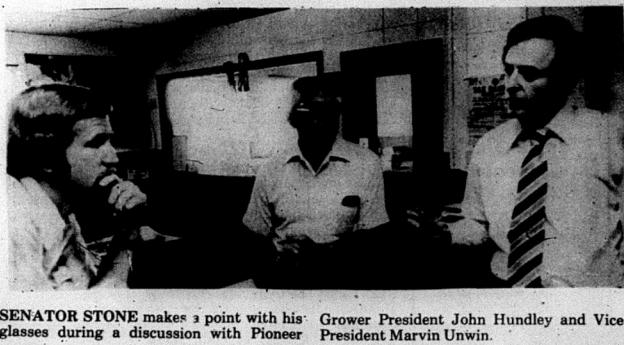

At this time, said Ron Sigmorn, public works director, there are four garbage routes. One of these routes will be used for the pilot.

This route is located generally in the Northwest Section, bounded by Avenue A west to 12th Street, then south to Avenue E up to St. 715, then north to the Chosen Bridge and back to Avenue A. It also includes the Wedgworth-Linda Road area and the Experiment Station.

The route was chosen, said Sigmorn, because it contains people of all social and economic backgrounds.

Roy Poling, sanitation superintendent, noted the savings to the city would be in the elimination of one garbage crew. At the present

SENATOR STONE makes a point with his Grower President John Hundley and Vice President Marvin Unwin.

Here in the Glades, we are aware of bureaucratic regulation that has the force of law, yet has never been before the legislature.

It's happened time and again. Some agency is created, its purpose stated by the legislature, it turns around and creates a set of regulations and we all have to abide by them.

Now the US Congress is having its own problems with this type of regulation. Even though the Congress has repeatedly turned down policies of national firearms registration, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms proposed some of its own that would have created a national firearms registration system.

And when Congress found out about it, things started looking up for those of us who don't feel a regulations system will hurt or over stimulate us.

Our own Sen. Lawton Chiles was one of the Senate co-sponsors of a resolution condemning this lock-door approach used by the Bureau.

It was discovered the Bureau had decided to initiate the system without further financial help from the federal government, meaning the $4.5 in their budget they could have used was likely nothing but "surplus" that should not have been there in the first place.

Maybe now Congress will take a closer look at the "faceless, bureaucracy" and propose sensible legislation to halt this kind of activity.

Maybe the Congress will more closely examine the budgetary requests of these agencies that spend millions for entirely useless programs and cut each budget to the bare bones.

Maybe now Congress will see how these bureaus add tremendously to the cost of government that must be borne by you and I.

But don't count on it.

Elsewhere in this issue is a story on my experiences during Thlathlo Tumka. So here I won't bore you with a repeat of it.

But this is something folks in Belle Glade, South Bay, and Pahokee should know.

Thlathlo Tumka was initiated by Harold DeTar of Moore Haven. Many people over here know Harold because of his many activities around the lake. As former Belle Glade citizen Leland Pearce of Buckhead Ridge said at the banquet Wednesday night "Harold has done more for the promotion of sportfishing on Okeechobee Lake than any other man, living or dead."

The outdoor writer-contestants voted him this and presented Harold with a fine plaque extolling his work for sportfishing.

But an even greater reward became his when Vic Dunaway of Florida Sportsman and Herb Allen of the Tampa Tribune inducted Harold into the International Fisherman's Hall of Fame.

This is the greatest honor that can befall a sportfisherman. Since the Hall of Fame was created in 1928, fewer than 500 people worldwide have entered it.

No more than 12 in one year can be inducted and most years, the number of inductees is much less. It takes a lifetime of dedication just to be nominated.

For Harold this was his greatest moment. I join all who know him in my most sincere congratulations and hearty endorsement of the Hall's selection.

Harold is truly a citizen of all of Lake Okeechobee. The benefits he has created to many through his efforts to publicize sportfishing in the lake have largely gone unnoticed.

But the increasing importance tourism is playing in the lake region is a measure of the effectiveness of his work over the past 15 years.

May his tribe increase.

Sugar farmers target of bias

The consumer protection groups working hand in glove with the Carter administration in efforts to kill or hamstring the proposed Sugar Stabilization Act of 1978 are cutting their own long term throats for a short-range advantage.

That's the analysis of Senator Richard Stone and local sugar producers and we concur.

In the efforts to hold down sugar prices, the administration and the so-called consumer protectors, knowingly or unknowingly, adding to the burden of those selfsame consumers, who are also taxpayers, are in the process of driving sugar processors out of business and could wind up putting the country in the same position regarding sugar as it is now concerning oil.

The 1977 sugar program, in the words of George Wedgworth, was too little, too late and it could mean that within the next 90 days the taxpayers, that is us consumers, are going to have to buy some 350,000 tons of raw sugar now being stored in every warehouse in the area and spilling over into equipment sheds and circus tents.

In the meantime, the processors are buying European sugar cheaper than European processors can purchase it. That, in the lexicon of international trade, is called dumping. No one in the meetings Saturday labeled the situation in those words but that's what it is.

Dumping simply means the foreign nations are selling sugar, or cars, or transistor radios and televisions or clothing for that matter, at a lower price to American consumers than at home or in other foreign markets.

The result of dumping is that the American producer may go out of business, in which case we can bank on the price going up considerably. And once the American producers are out of business, it takes much less dumping to keep them out than the process of forcing them out.

We predicted back in January 1974, about the time the U.S. Sugar Act's death knell was being sounded, that if the act died, there would be a considerable fluctuation of the market price of sugar. We predicted that the ones who were going to be hurt the most were the little people; the housewife shopping for her groceries, the small farmer growing cane and taxpayers in general.

This is one time we truly wish we couldn't say, "I told you so." We'd rather have been wrong than accurate on those predictions but between then and now, a number of small growers have been forced out of business; prices have fluctuated from a low of nine cents to 66 cents per pound for raw sugar, with corresponding fluctuations in the supermarket and the taxpayers can now look forward to buying 350,000 tons of raw sugar... and that's just in Florida.

Some of the things we didn't foresee in that editorial four years ago include the fact that while products including sugar rode the sugar price uphill, their prices didn't fall when sugar hit bottom.

We also didn't foresee the reality, in the case of the soft drink manufacturers, the price of a Coke rising to 35 cents for a 12 ounce can... whether it contained The Real Thing or was a diet drink without a gram of sugar in a vat of syrup.

We said it then and we'll say it again. It's a lot better for everyone concerned, including the consumers, to pay a slightly higher price for a product, as long as it's a stable price, than to wait for the ups and downs of the price to even out at a price we can afford... when we can find the product at all.

We're true in oil and it's true in sugar.

OSHA ruling

Police don't have the right to simply walk into a citizen's home and the Supreme Court has finally ruled the same. Constitutional protection should apply to OSHA (Occupational Safety and Health Administration) agents (occupying surprise visits to business and industrial sites).

So long as OSHA has the police power to assess fines to businesses, OSHA ought to be governed by the same rules and restrictions all other law enforcement agencies live by.

Now if someone can put a damper on some of OSHA's other activities such as general safety warning, like the one warning dairy workers to be careful and not step in the manure in the cow barn because manure is slippery and can cause a fall...

It's History Now

since 1942.

A candle light recital was presented Sunday evening, at 6 p.m., at the Methodist Church by piano students of Mrs. J.A. Murphy. A large audience of parents and friends of the young artists attended.

The children are all members of the first four grades and included are: Sue Van-Landingham, Bill Cook, Kay Young, John Thorne, Lavine Anderson, John Townsend, Dorothy Irvin, Bill Puckett, Bill Burr, Alma Ann McClure, Linda Connell, Alva Willis, Sam Fleming, Betty Ann Pope, James Hubert Chumblee, Eugene McCabe, Jeanne Crows, and Glenda Dell.

On Wednesday night, Mr. and Mrs. O.W. Harrison celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with a reception at the Community Club House, given in their honor by their daughter, Mrs. J.C. Hill and Mrs. A.L. Willis.

Guests attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Sam McKinstry of Pahokee, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Friedman, Mrs. George Taylor, Mrs. Bob Davis, Mrs. W.D. Tidwell, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Johnson, Mrs. W.C. Collins, T.E. Beason, Mr. and Mrs. W.P. Deskins, and Mrs. W.P. Deskins.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison were married 25 years ago in Bartow and have made their home here ever since.

A true appreciation of Orlov's trial should include a deeper appreciation of the American ideal of justice as well as a realization human rights are what the state says they are.

And it should by all means include a firmer resolve to protect such basic human rights as free speech, the free exercise of religion and the right to bear arms... one right the state, in the form of U.S. Supreme Court, has long since decided should no longer exist.

The last lesson in the Orlov trial is that if the state decides what rights the individual can enjoy, it is the conglomerate of individuals who make up the state who decide what rights the state should have.

Those presented prizes in canasta were Mrs. Lee Puckett, first; Mrs. Joe Murphy, second; and Mrs. Chester Cone, traveling prize.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

I was real glad to learn through a press release the other day that a 94-page report prepared by Senator Lawton Chiles' subcommittee is going to save six percent on military purchases of red meat.

The savings began when the Defense Department started buying meat the way private industry buys it and did away with its "archaic and unrealistic specifications" of "Lawton" Lawton said.

Marker of fact, I was so encouraged and gratified from hearing the news, I went down to the local supermarket and started into the meat case for a while dreaming of glories gone by.

With the checking the price of bacon instead, kicked the cabinet, glared at the armed guard and walked over to the potatoes and rice I can afford and got one of each before my grocery budget was broken...that's one potato and one grain of rice, I'm talking about, not a bag of each.

And things weren't helped much in Spanish class that night when Neal Walker was explaining the rudiments of ordering from a menu and wrote things on the blackboard (actually, it's green but what the heck) as pollo frito, bi stek and hamon.

And when he translated pollo is chicken, bi stek is beef steak and hamon is ham, I had to ask for further definitions.

After all, you can forget English words if you don't use 'em too. And you know things are bad when Neal lets us know the way to say I am is Yo soy and the first thing that pops into your mind is soybeans.

Soybeans were introduced a few years ago as hamburger stretchers. I don't know about anyone else around town but lately, I've been doing it for... to stretch and flavor soybeans, ground fried or roasted.

Reminds me of the time when we had kids, I mean to gonna help out the family budget. Things were so rotten, we didn't have anything to eat, so we ate ground. Anyways, a kid could make some money by selling garden and flower seeds, so I wrote Harrisburg, Pa.

Couple weeks later and the postman brought around a couple boxes of seeds. I broke 'em open and found the germs for everything from American beauties to zucchini, with heavy emphasis placed on marigolds, tomatoes, greens and okra.

The pictures on the packages looked so good, we almost ate the emblems off, but we decided to plant the seeds and ground we been chewing down on when I found everyone else in the neighborhood was a dime since I'd been.

They're still waiting for the proceeds from the sale of those seeds up in Harrisburg and you can believe Pennsylvania is one state I've always given a wide berth the few times I've traveled up in damnyakeland.

Speakin' of perkung up, though, that's one thing Bill Mathis didn't need to do with his entry of the Greater Belle Glade Open World Championship Frog Races and Swimming Pool Relays last week.

D. Bill and a few other reprobate types, known locally as the Belle Glade Lizards, were having themselves an outin' over at the Municipal Civic Center and when someone noticed the symphony of 14,239 frogs in the abandoned Municipal Swimming Pool cum Rose Garden.

Now, the word I have is that there wasn't anything like your garden variety potables making the rounds when these sportsparts jumped into Ralph Kirk's Rose Garden and put Belle Glade on the map...right alongside Calveras County.

Anyways these guys jumped in among all those amphibians (Bill confessed later the "frogs" were really just plain old toads too) but that doesn't detract from the adventure by so much as one whit, not to mention a half-wit.

Whistling out a piece of trainman's chalk, or whatever, someone encircled a square on the bottom of the pool and the race was on.

But if D. Bill was the World Champion Racing Frog trainer, who was the loser? Word we have is that Roy Poling's steed never made it out of the square, not even when he was prodded by Roy's lit cigarette butt.

Sanitation supervisors don't get any more respect than editors, do they, Roy?

Water resources seminar is today

The abundance (or lack) of water in South Florida is one of the most critical issues facing the population of the region. Current demands for water by both agricultural and urban interests oftentimes appear to be at odds. The need for an understanding of the issues has become apparent to many interested parties.

Robert C. Gee, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Atlantic Legal Foundation announced today that his organization is sponsoring a day long seminar in Clewiston today beginning at 9 a.m.

"We are attempting to bring the best available experts from both the public and private sectors to share their knowledge and experience in this highly critical area," said Gee.

He then indicated that the seminar will discuss the historical aspects of the water drainage projects which have made South Florida the "Winter Vegetable Garden of America" for the past 40 years; also, seminar participants will learn how government and industry have created a cooperative program to better utilize the natural resource. The closing portion of the program will discuss the rights of the private property owner as they relate to water usage.

"I am very hopeful that the public will come away from this meeting with a better understanding of the interrelationship of the many privately-operated drainage districts and the South Florida Water Management Districts," concluded Chairman Gee.

Atlantic Legal Foundation has previously sponsored a series of land use conferences in order to clarify various aspects of current legislation relating to planning activities in South Florida.

The Water Resources Seminar has been scheduled in the Clewiston area in order to accommodate the transportation problems of interested parties from both the East and West Coasts of the State. Clewiston is approximately a one hour drive from West Palm Beach, on State Road 80 and the same driving time from Fort Myers.

The seminar has limited seating capacity due to the size of the facilities at the Clewiston Inn. "Although you will be able to register at the door, I would advise any interested parties to send a reservation deposit to the Foundation (P.O. Box 358) Delray Beach, FL 33444. Please do not guarantee your attendance," Gee said.

Approximately one month after the seminar, a syllabus on water resources will be available to the public - conference attendees will receive a copy as a part of the registration fee. The registration fee of $32.50 includes the conference material, luncheon and other related literature.

Lake at high water record for month

Water storage in Lake Okeechobee is at an all-time high for May. Jack Maloy, Executive Director of the South Florida Water Management District, reported on Friday at the District's Governing Board meeting in West Palm Beach, that the lake was never reached a level of 15 feet mean sea level during May since records have been kept for the lake.

"We may be making history in the next week to 10 days," Maloy said, in anticipation of even higher levels in the lake. As of Friday, May 12, the lake stood at 14.9 ft. msl.

The District has looked for high water levels in Lake Okeechobee for several years in order to begin a scheduled rise in the lake's overall storage capacity which has been studied by the US Army Corps of Engineers and the District for many years.

Concerns regarding higher water levels affecting the safety of surrounding communities has been virtually eliminated with the completion of the protective dike around the lake.

In previous years, the District was optimistic that heavy summer rains could raise the level of the lake to higher stages, but extremely dry winters consistently kept levels fairly low over the past few years.

The year's "dry season" seems to have reversed that, and chances of safely keeping the lake at a high level to provide additional storage for water users throughout all of South Florida are very good this year, Maloy said.

According to a water condition report given at the Board meeting, such favorable water conditions are true throughout the District.

Traditionally dry areas, including the Lake Istokpoga Basin in Glades and Highlands counties, and the St. Lucie Agricultural Area in St. Lucie County, experienced low water levels for a time in April, but have recovered with heavy rains which occurred in the past two weeks.

SOME MORE FACTS ABOUT HYPERTENSION

High blood pressure is more common in women than in men. The average age of onset is about 35, although it is not unusual to find it in younger people. Onset after 35 years of age, however, is uncommon. Diabetes are at least twice as liable to develop high blood pressure as non-diabetics.

Also, it is generally accepted that heredity is of great importance in the development of hypertension. A child whose parents both have high blood pressure has a greater chance of becoming hypertensive.

Mrs. Burgess honored by Glades Day School

BELLE GLADE — April 21 was Miriam W. Burgess Day for Glades Day School. Mrs. Burgess has been the headmistress of the school since 1967. During her administration, the school has grown to encompass both a Pahokee and Belle Glade campus. Since Mrs. Burgess is retiring in June, the school honored her with a day of social activities.

The entire student body assembled in Dora B. McWhorter Hall during the morning to present skits by the various clubs and classes. The Glades Day School Band performed, cheers were given and songs were sung. The students and the school presented both Mr. and Mrs. Burgess with a trip to Mexico for their untiring efforts.

A reception was held in the evening. The school's cafeteria was decorated with palms and flowers. The serving table was adorned with a silver candelabra holding white tapers. An arrangement consisting of one hundred long-stemmed American Beauty roses with baby's breath centered the table.

Frank Teets, chairman of the board, presented Mrs. Burgess with a diamond wristwatch from the school for her years of service. Mr. and Mrs. Burgess, with Mr. and Mrs. Teets, received a host of friends during the evening.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Burgess, Miss Carla Burgess, a Freshman at Furman University in Greenville, S.C., Mr. and Mrs. Teb Burgess, of Columbia, S.C., and Rev. and Mrs. Gene Daggerhart with their son, Ted, of Charleston, S.C. arrived to share the festivities with their parents.

Now that we're running out of oil and gas, is nuclear energy the answer to our future?

In the past, natural gas and oil have been called "easy energy." Because they seemed easily accessible, and their supply endless.

But these two fossil fuels don't come easily anymore. In fact, we are running out of them.

So we need alternatives to help meet Florida's need for energy.

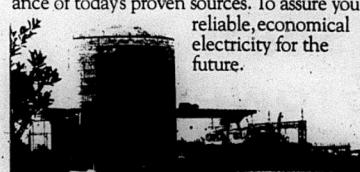

Nuclear energy is one of these. Today, it's our cleanest way of producing electricity. Its safety record is unequalled in industry. And it has proved to be economical.

FPL's three nuclear power plants already have demonstrated the viability of nuclear power. Last year alone, they generated one-third of our electricity and saved our customers $250 million in imported oil costs.

But no one source of energy is the "easy" answer.

So FPL, with other power companies, continues to search for new energy technologies—while it works with a careful balance of today's proven sources. To assure you reliable, economical electricity for the future.

FPL's nuclear unit at St. Lucie. We have two others at Turkey Point.

One pellet of uranium, the fuel for nuclear power, produces as much energy as 49 gals. of oil or 1780 lbs. of coal, or 157 gals. of gasoline.

Christian Comments

BELLE GLADE—Our Lord said, "Feed my sheep." He also said, "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations... to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you..." (Matthew 28:19-20). When Jesus talked about teaching "all nations," He was concerned that they be taught "all things" - all of His Word.

Let us not deceive ourselves by thinking all that is required of us is to accept the Savior. His will for every Christian is far more glorious than that! We are saved to teach others. It is an indispensable part of our spiritual responsibility. Let us open our hearts of compassion and make it possible for God's people throughout the world to read and understand the Bible.

His Word should move us to give of our very life to "feed His sheep" - to teach others that All scripture is given by inspiration of God...that the man of God must be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works" (II Timothy 3:16, 17).

At the end of His earthly ministry, our Lord used two ordinary words in His high-priestly prayer: word and Word (John 17). Christ came to earth to work, that His Word would reach all nations. He fulfilled His responsibility as He said, "I have finished the work...I have given them the word" (John 17:4, 14). Now the responsibility rests upon us to provide His Word to "all nations." This takes work - hard work - and sacrificial giving from those who know that God will honor His Word, and that God's Word will never - no, never - return void.

Once God's Word controls our heart, providing way for others to read His Word will be of prime importance to us. It will be us who ask, "What can I do?" It will be us willing workers, and even compel us to give sacrificially. We will then remain faithful in prayer for God's blessing upon our united efforts to reach out to those who are in need.

Jesus told His disciples, "...I have meat to eat that ye know not of... My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work" (John 4:32, 34).

This was food beyond human understanding. Jesus stated that "Man does not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God" (Matthew 4:4).

He gives bread - His Word - but it does not become our food until we obey it. God's Word is the bread from Heaven that the world does not recognize. It makes the inward person of the Christian strong, even as food that is eaten gives the physical body strength.

But to the unbeliever, God's Word seems difficult and hard to understand. They prefer to think of the life of Christ as a good example, but they fail to see Christ.

The Word that created the universe, and the same power that is now working in us through His indwelling Spirit.

As we "desire the sincere milk of the word" (I Peter 2:2), our heart increasingly grows hungry for more of Christ, just as we hunger for food.

We do not eat merely to stay alive, but to be healthy and vigorous. Even so, God's Word becomes the Christian's joy and strength when his one purpose is to discover the will of God and do it.

This is why some Christians are strong and others are weak. The weak Christian is one who fails to recognize the importance of reading his Bible. The strong Christian has discovered the secret of success:

"This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein: for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success" (Joshua 1:8).

We know that food tastes best when we are hungry. Make sure then that you have a keen appetite for the will of God. Hunger is stimulated by hard work and the sight of food. As you read the Bible, begin immediately to do the will of God. This will create even a greater desire to read His Word.

The blessedness of having you will in harmony with His will, of actually knowing that you, through your sacrificial gifts, are helping others discover the joy of daily Bible reading and are actually performing the will of God here on earth.

Then you can truthfully say with the Lord Jesus, "My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work" (John 4:34).

Destination Unknown

By Bill Anderson, Editor
First Baptist Church, South Bay

These super highways, these interlocking cloverleafs of shiny concrete that crisscross our land are an amazing marvel of our nation's engineering. And yet for all the time and inconvenience they save unless we know exactly where we are going they can become a confusing maze...a motorist's nightmare.

We can easily compare our lives to the automobiles that travel these highways. A driver without a known destination in mind, a motorist that does not know where he is going, a man without a map or a guiding plan is soon lost amid the complex interchanges. And so it is with life. Each of us has but one true destination and that is toward God and His promise of Eternal Life. The church, your church, is the guidepost that lights the way; it is the sign on the highway that points the route. Give your life a known destination... Go to the church of your choice this Sunday.

1519 Calusa Rd., Suite P.O. Box 4147, Dallas, Texas

The Church is God's agency in this world for spreading His love for man. His love for man is the only love that can bind man to God and his neighbor. It is the love of God that motivates us to give of ourselves or serve others in any way that we hold so dear will in people's hearts. From this point of view, one should sign the church of his choice and become a member. The church tells the truth about man's life and God's love for him. It sets him free to live as a child

Sizemore tells of fighters

BELLE GLADE—Buddy Sizemore, a member of the Belle Glade Rotary Club and former US Air Force fighter pilot, told his fellow Rotarians about the fighter inventory and systems on modern aircraft Tuesday at the regular meeting.

It was Sizemore's second program on fighters, the first being several weeks ago. At that time, he told the club how the Tactical Air Command is set up and its responsibilities.

This past week, he spoke on what he said is the finest fighter plane in the world, the F15 Eagle. He also gave a slide presentation on each fighter plane in the Air Force inventory and spoke on each plane's capabilities.

Sizemore said he is not entirely happy with the sale of this airplane to Saudi Arabia, but pointed out that the United States must remain on friendly terms with the Arabs because of their sensitive location on the Persian Gulf.

"I'd have to leave to fly against the F15," said Sizemore.

The plane has the capability of over twice the speed of sound, of the most advanced and reliable weapons, communications, and radar systems, and backup systems for the backup systems.

It's also expensive, costing between $8 and $10 million per unit. For that reason, he said, the F15, at half the price of the F15, was developed.

It was designed to be the best fighter, outside the F15, in the world and Sizemore said that has been accomplished.

Sizemore served during the Vietnam War as a fighter pilot for two tours of duty, flying different fighter aircraft.

Maloy continued, "Backpumping is the only regional alternative that we are recommending to receive active participation by the District. Because of the tremendous amount of manpower and time needed to pursue these questions that the public is vocalizing, we need to bring the concept of the Board for approval now to get the Board's support before setting the FY '78-79 budget."

Many of the issues mentioned by the public who attended the meeting were addressed at a special workshop session held on the Conservation Areas in April, where the ecology, history and problems of the area were discussed.

"Although the public was encouraged to attend that meeting, they must not have realized how important it was, because very few took advantage of the opportunity," said Maloy.

To assure that the public has as much background as possible in order to understand the scientific and historic aspects of the Conservation Areas, the District will repeat its Conservation Areas presentation at 9 a.m. on June 2 in SFWMD headquarters, 3301 Gun Club Road, West Palm Beach.

Water plan is delayed

Because of substantial public interest and concern about the recently released summary of the Water Use and Supply Development Plan, the South Florida Water Management District, Governing Board, today delayed acceptance of the Plan's recommendations.

The item will be placed again on the regular agenda for consideration and is expected to be adopted by the Board at its June 16 meeting.

Although the District has been involved in a strong public participation program since the first release of the Plan in April 1977, some public concerns expressed to the Board that they felt the Plan's scope was so broad and precedent-setting that the people of South Florida and the needed more time to review it.

John R. Maloy, Executive Director, said, "There is really nothing new in this document as compared with what we published and distributed widely in April. The Executive Summary '78 merely takes the public input and incorporates it into the planning process. We will be bringing further updates on the Plan to the Board in the near future, and we encourage the public to continue participation. But we've got to get on with our work in the Lower East Coast and Kissimmee River Basin."

One of the major issues of controversy seems to be the recommendation to support the concept of backpumping in the Lower East Coast planning area. Concern was expressed that this meant the District was planning to construct facilities to implement backpumping in the West Palm Beach Canal prior to investigating the potential impact of that alternative to the Existing Canal System Areas.

Robert L. Clark, Jr., Chairman of the Governing Board, said this was definitely not the case. "The purpose of that recommendation is to set us on the road to developing an optimized Conservation Area management program through water quantity and quality studies

Disaster act is a hard one to follow

By Ana Gomez
Staff Writer

BELLE GLADE—The blood-splattered students, victims of the school bus overturned near Dead Man's Curve, seemed so real to the passengers that some stopped to offer their help, despite the signs posted warning that it was a Civil Defense disaster drill.

If a member of the Academy Awards would have been present at the scene, most of these "actors and actresses for one day" would have been nominated for an Oscar for "best performance" and some might have even received one.

The victims, students from two local high schools, Glades Central and Glades Day, were made up prior to the accident "at the Municipal Civic Center where each received a sheet of paper with the instructions and their individual symptoms. As the members of the Civil Defense team applied the make-up, each explained to the student the extent of their particular injury and how he or she should act.

Michele Parker, for example, had a neck injury. Blood dripped down her neck, but she felt this was not sufficient. She went in search of James Cogswell, the civil defense plans and operations coordinator, and explained her situation.

"Well, we don't want to make you look too gross, do we?", he asked, but went ahead and applied her with a cut in the forehead. After this she seemed quite satisfied.

Monica Hooker's instruction sheet said she had a broken leg and a cut. "I don't want my jeans ripped", she said. The situation was promptly solved. She rolled her right pants leg up and let the make-up artist do her stuff. Tommy Duda's jeans, his best pair with holes and all, did not have the same luck. They had to be ripped. His injury consisted of a broken leg with a large cut. The knee bone was out of the socket and protruded from his leg.

It looked realistic enough for someone to suggest he go home and show Mrs. Duda. The idea was discarded when Linda Anderson said that it might scare Mrs. Duda to death.

Carolyn Johnson was in shock, or at least she was supposed to be, but the problem was everytime a camera came near her she'd start laughing and could not control herself and after a couple of tries, the photographers gave up.

Linda Anderson was to have a burnt back, but she didn't like that. She suggested the burn might look better on her arm. Linda was taking her injury home to show her mom; the explanation would be very simple. "Mom, hey mom, look what I'm roasting marshmallows," but Mrs. Anderson might faint before she could admire the makeup job Jim Cogswell did on her arm, so she was going to think of something better.

A total of about 40 students participated, and their performances were "terrific," observers said, who also commented the bus driver should be congratulated. She suffered a broken leg and cuts on her arm and forehead. In order to "rescue" her, the front windshield of the bus was broken.

Before leaving for the scene of the accident, Cogswell wanted everyone in case of an actual injury to yell "Coke," "since we all know that Coke is the real thing."

The students were transferred to the scene in a bus supplied by the school board of Palm Beach County and then placed inside the over-turned one. Instructions were to moan and groan as soon as the ambulances were in sight.

There was laughter coming from everywhere until the first ambulance made its appearance, then the screams of pain were heard.

Emergency Medical Technician Rick Guzman tried to pick one of the students up but she screamed so loud he almost dropped her.

The rescuers and their work cut out for them. Even the victims with less serious injuries seemed to "hurt" everywhere and cold not be touched because the "pain" was unbearable.

As one of the victims was carried out of the bus and placed on a stretcher she kept screaming "Don't drop me" as though she thought she were going to be thrown to the ground.

The entire scene was realistic, and amid the fun everyone had it was a very important experience for everyone participating. Cogswell stated that how mock disaster proved emergency rescue teams from two cities can work together in time of need. "We had good response from all the departments," he said.

During the drill, the ambulance companies kept one unit available in case of an actual emergency.

Observers from the civil defense department were stationed at the disaster site and they will prepare rescue operations. These reports will be discussed at a meeting this week with the personnel involved in the exercise.

Box cleanup week set

Upholding the tradition that spring is "cleanup" time around the households, Officer In Charge Curtis King today announced that the week of May 22-27 will be observed as "Mailbox Improvement Week."

Belle Glade residents are urged to repair, repaint and make other improvements to all mailboxes, particularly those located along rural, city delivery curbside and highway contract routes.

Customers should be sure their boxes provide adequate protection to the mail and are easily reached by carriers. That helps speed collection and delivery of their mail, O.I.C. King said.

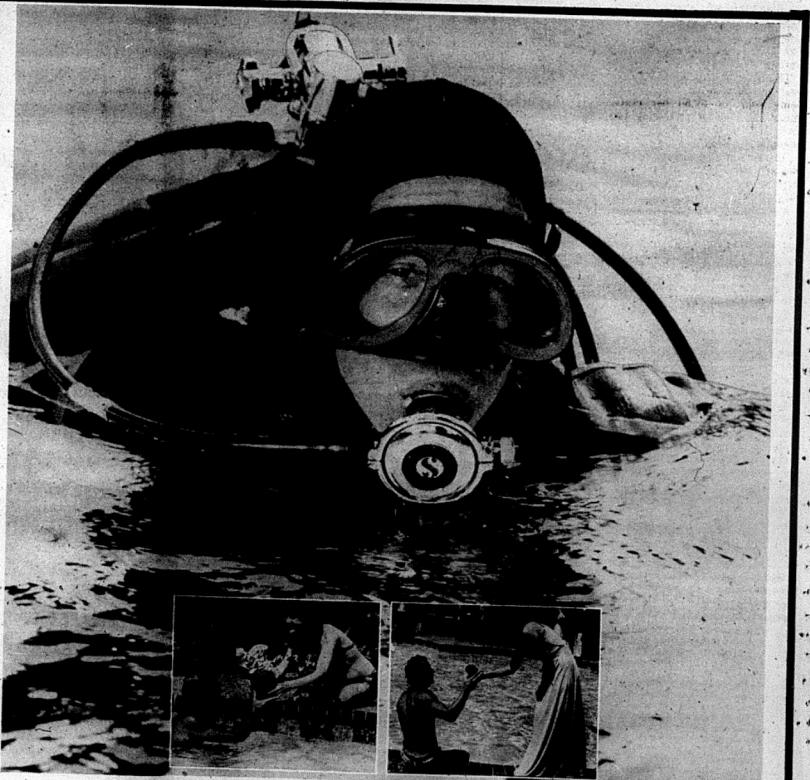

Attractive mailboxes also add to the general appearance of our community" he said.

THIS WAS THE SCENE last Wednesday, May 17, as Pahokee and Belle Glade joined together to create a mock disaster for the purpose of being prepared in case of a real disaster. Shown here are EMT Phelix Slonaker and Sargent Steve Lane removing an injured patient from the ambulance as Dr. Fernandez looks on. This patient was taken into the lobby of the hospital for diagnosis.

Stone

of Florida.

"It's like I said in a meeting with the cooperative not long ago," Pioneer Growers President John Hundley said when Stone asked what kind of coordination the farmers practiced. "How can we have a gentleman's agreement when there aren't any gentlemen in the room, and if we couldn't coordinate the crops within the cooperative, how can we coordinate with other farmers in the area?"

Stone listened to input by Hundley, Marvin Unwin and Robert Wigley, all of Pioneer, James Duda and Warren Battle and Edward Duda of A. Duda & Sons, Roy Vandergrift of Vandergrift-Wigley, George Wedgeworth of Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida, Inc., Nelson Fairbanks of Florida Sugar Cane League and James Duncan of Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association.

The Senator expressed concern over the fact sweet corn is now being sold for $2.50 per crate, under the cost of producing the corn, and the lack of organization among the growers.

"I'm sure you're aware," Unwin pointed out, "that the Justice Department is looking into farming cooperatives as possible being in violation of anti-trust laws."

"Yeah," Stone rejoined, "and we're going to look into the Justice Department. In Florida, we have more productivity than they (other countries) have but they're beating us to death with marketing unity, which we don't allow."

Stone kept returning to his refrain of what he could do to help, and the growers who were their major concern asked whether they'd looked into possible off-marketing markets and alternative ways of marketing excess crops.

The growers agreed that right now, "we're our own competitors," commenting that for most of the crops grown in the Glades, Florida is the only state distributing when the crops are in season here, although they said Mexico could become a competitor later.

Wigley commented that one area the growers could use some help in is in tariffs in some foreign countries which are balanced against the Florida growers.

Wigley said two markets which have been opened up recently for Florida vegetable growers are the Scandinavian countries and the United Kingdom. He said a shipper's council, which would give greater unity in marketing the local products, would be helpful but aren't allowed under anti-trust laws.

"Would you like a shipper's council?" Stone asked, then went on to note that while such councils are forbidden here in the United States, most foreign countries which are in competition with American producers have state-operated boards which coordinate marketing and production.

Stone said he intends to use the information gathered here Saturday when he begins hearings today in Washington on unfair competition which has been charged by Florida growers, particularly of tomatoes.

"It is my hope," Stone said, "that these hearings will give a comprehensive picture of how winter vegetable imports are affecting the domestic market and whether or not current federal regulations put domestic products at a competitive disadvantage."

Stone is chairman of the Senate Agriculture Subcommittee on Foreign Agricultural Policy and he has invited representatives from the Department of Agriculture, Commerce, Labor and State, the Food and Drug Administration, the Environmental Protection Agency and the Office of the Special Trade Negotiator to attend.

In preparation for the hearing, Stone distributed written questions to each of the agencies to make sure they work together to develop the necessary information.

The questions included regard the results of FDA's pesticide inspection of vegetables imported from Mexico; whether or not foreign tomatoes are being dumped on the US market and the possibility of negotiating orderly marketing agreements with Mexico.

have installed the tape for water and sewer in their developments but are still being charged the entire tap-in fee.

A normal home water tap-in fee is $75, said Sanders, which included the yoke, tap-in, labor and water meter. In Steele's case, everything has been installed with the exception of the water meter. The meter costs $21.

Sanders said in cases such as this, the contractor should not be charged the full tap fee. But the commission quickly became involved in what should be charged and what the charge should be called.

Mayor Altman argued it should be a simple "meter fee" with the charge only for the meter and Sanders said a "service fee" would cover the meter and labor to install it.

There was more discussion on different sizes, and therefore different priced, meters and finally the commission decided to take the matter up in a workshop session June 5.

time, the four crews make around 600 pickups per day. With the new system, the same crew assisted by mechanical lifters could make around 1,000 pickups per day.

Sanders said operating expenses for the sanitation department come from the general fund and the savings would be to the fund, thereby releasing money for other services if the system is adopted.

A garbage crew is presently composed of three men who make pickups in residents' back yards. With the pilot program, the pickups would be made from the containers at curbside.

Two men would wheel the containers to the truck, then the truck's hydraulics would lift and empty the container. The driver would remain inside the vehicle.

The system has come under fire from several groups in the city concerned with beautification, but Sanders said after they were shown a slide presentation on the system, they took a "wait and see" attitude and he has heard nothing more from them.

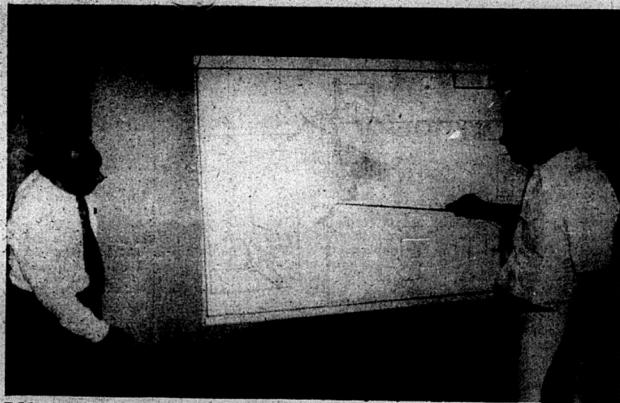

Mayor Tom Altman commented that the "administration has made up its mind about the system" but the commission remains undecided.

"Whether it is initiated," he said, "will depend largely upon public acceptance."

Sanders said in addition to the savings in money, he hopes the pilot will show other benefits as well. Morale in the department is low, he said, turnovers are high and workman's compensation claims common.

The vote to initiate the pilot program passed the commission 4-1 with Commissioner William Grear voting against it.

Former resident shares home with president

ELMHURST, Ill.—A native and former resident of Belle Glade will host President Jimmy Carter tonight (Thursday) in her home.

Mrs. Mary Eleanor Wall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kidder of Belle Glade and wife of the Rev. James M. Wall, called her parents this week to tell them of the event.

Kidder said agents of the Secret Service had been in her home all week securing the premises for the President's stay, but only one agent will remain in the home while he is there.

Mrs. Wall played host to Carter during the presidential campaign, said Kidder, but that's not quite the same as hosting the president himself.

County charter draft is now complete

The Palm Beach County Charter Advisory Council completed last Thursday a draft of the proposed county charter which will be submitted to the Board of County Commissioners by June 1.

In a major reversal of their earlier position, the council voted 8-3 to adopt the present constitutional officers under the charter as elected charter officers.

This move would require the elected charter officers of sheriff, tax collector, property appraiser, supervisor of elections and clerk of the circuit court and their employees to come under the county commission system.

This includes pay and job classifications, fringe benefits and grievance procedures. The elected officers would continue their right to hire and fire employees in their own departments as they presently do.

Produce trucks to be banned by ordinance

BELLE GLADE—An ordinance that would prohibit loaded produce trucks from the city's Southwest Section passed its first reading Monday night when the city commission held its first reading.

The ordinance, if adopted after the second and third readings, would ban the trucks from the area described as follows:

"All of those streets bounded on the East by South Main Street, on the West by Southwest Tenth Street, on the North by West Avenue A, and on the South by Southwest Avenue G, and the East-West projection thereof, between said East-West boundaries, excluding South Main Street and Southwest Avenue E."

The commission voted unanimously to hold the first reading.

In other business, the Commission:

Mrs. Wall was born and raised in Belle Glade, graduating from Belle Glade High School in 1948.

Her husband recently spoke at graduation exercises at Salem University in Oregon and was awarded an honorary Ph.D.

She was a member of a citizen's committee named last year to make recommendations for the appointment of a new director of the FBI, a story carried in the Belle Glade Herald.

Rev. and Mrs. Wall are the parents of three sons, David, who lived in Clewiston for a year and a half and served as an EMT at the Hendry County Hospital, Robert, a student of geology at Gilford College in North Carolina, and Richard, a senior in high school in Elmhurst.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS in their individual sports were Don Andrews in football, Clara Brown in girls basketball and softball, Julie Pate in volleyball, Carlos Rosario in wrestling, Ollie Sheppard in football and Robert O'Neal in cross country.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS in their categories were Joe Byrd for track, Keith Reece for tennis, Earl Wingate in baseball, Marletha Peavy in girls track, Freddie Garrett in track and Jessie Haynes in basketball.

Glades Day plays jamboree host tonight

BELLE GLADE - Coach Byron Walker's 1978-79 edition of the Glades Day Gators will get their first real tryout tonight (Thursday) when they play host to Lake Placid, LaBelle and Moore Haven in a football jamboree.

Game time is 7:30 p.m.

The first quarter will put Moore Haven against Lake Placid with the second quarter's action between Glades Day and LaBelle.

In the third quarter, LaBelle will take on Lake Placid and in the last quarter, the Gators will go up against arch-rival Moore Haven.

Although a "firm" starting lineup won't be established until just before the game, Walker said a tentative one is set.

Nacho Bueno will lead off as quarterback with Steve Richie and Quique Echave as halfbacks and Winston Byrd and Donnie Courson alternating at fullback. The offensive line will consist of Jon Scruggs and Wesley Thompson pretty well locked into end positions and Byrd and Basil Markham the linebackers.

Doug Tanner will be one defensive tackle and several others are vying for the other position. Sweet and Strickland are the defensive guards.

Richie and Shelton will occupy cornerback berths and Echave will resume his last year's position as safety.

"This jamboree will give the fans a good indication of what we will be like next year," said Walker.

He noted the Gators will receive a lot of help from young players this year and urged them to come out and see the action.

Third All-Sports banquet night of firsts for Raiders

BELLE GLADE-The Third Annual All-Sports Banquet at Glades Central High School turned into a night of firsts as Clara Brown became the first girl to win the Athlete of the Year award and Carlos Rosario became the first wrestler to win a non-wrestling award when he received the Charles McCurdy Award.

Girls basketball coach Valmon Edwards was named Coach of the Year for her efforts with the distaff roundballers and the cheerleaders and received a bonus when she found she had been named Palm Beach County Girls Basketball Coach of the Year.

Another bonus was announced when Athletic Director Johnny Davis said Clara Brown was also the first female athlete to win an athletic scholarship from Glades Central. Miss Brown will be playing basketball for Bethune-Cookman College in Daytona.

On her way to win the Athlete of the Year Award, Miss Brown was also named Most Valuable Player in both girls basketball and girls softball. Davis described her as one of the most coachable athletes he's ever worked with.

Rosario was named Most Valuable Player in wrestling, according to coach Jessie White, because of his record of 62 wins and 10 losses in the 141 pound division through three years of competition. During that time, he has won the Palm Beach County Christmas Tournament, in his division, for the past two years and for the past two years has been named to the all-conference and all-district teams. This year, he was named to the all-regional and all-area teams. White said he was the first Raider ever to place in the state meet, making fourth place.

He was the third person to win the Charles McCurdy Award, following Michael Pringle and Kathleen Ford. The award is based on total contribution to sports at Glades Central and includes a minimum grade average as a minimum to win.

Another all-sport special award, which was given for the first time, was the Academic Award. Winning the award on the basis of his 3.67 grade point average, was basketball player Todd Darville.

Coach Davis said there was a tie in the balloting for Athletic Councilman of the year and dual awards went to Eddie Fletcher and William Motes. Motes is president of the council this year.

Most Valuable Player Awards were presented in the individual sports to Don Andrews and Ollie Sheppard in football, Julie Pate in volleyball, Robert O'Neal in cross country, Jessie Haynes in boys basketball, Earl Wingate in baseball, Keith Reece in tennis, Marletha Peavy and Rosa Wilkerson in girls track and Freddie Garrett and Joe Byrd in boys track.

Other awards in individual sports were:

Football: Offensive backs David Jones and David Robinson, Offensive Line: Rufus Washington; Defensive Lineman Randy Byrd; Defensive Cornerback Allen Johnson; Spirit Award to Sylvester Knowles and Unsung Hero Award to Preston Vickers.

Volleyball: Most Improved Player Bernestine Nelson.

Cross country: Most Improved Player Jerry Seymour; Outstanding Senior Joe Freeman and Coach's Award went to Willie Tyler.

Wrestling: Fastest Pin (20 seconds) to Raymond Rodriguez; Most Pins (13) to Preston Vickers; Best Freshman Eliza McClorin; Desire and Rustle to Preston Vickers and Most Improved to Richard Ford.

Glades Central standouts honored

BELLE GLADE—Two members of the Glades Central High football team won All-American honors from Coach and Athlete Magazine according to a recent news release from the magazine.

Don Andrews and Ollie Shepard were the two players whose names will appear in the "Prep All-America Football Yearbook." Andrews went both ways on the 1977 Raider squad, filling the position of linebacker and tight end. Shepard was primarily a split end, doing wide receiver chores who also filled in occasionally as a running back.

Sheppard recently signed a letter of intent to play for Bethel College in North Newton, Kan., and Andrews signed a letter of intent last week to play for Fort Scott Community College in Fort Scott, Kan.

The nominations were made last winter, using criteria of athletic ability, statistics based on outstanding performance and sportsmanship and personal leadership displayed during the current season.
